Examinations – your professional will assess your oral health status and determine if any abnormalities require examination. The oral health professional will identify any abnormalities that require examination, such as tooth decay or gum disease. They will also perform examinations to determine if any abnormalities require treatment.

X-rays – your professional will take X-rays of your teeth to assess their health and determine if any abnormalities require treatment. The X-rays will be taken using a technique called X-ray (X-ray).

Fluoride – your professional will prescribe fluoride to strengthen your teeth and prevent tooth decay. Fluoride will be applied to your teeth using a technique called Fluoride.

Fissure sealants – your professional will apply fissure sealants to your teeth to prevent tooth decay. Fissure sealants will be applied to your teeth using a technique called Fissure sealants.

Filling – your professional will perform a filling to repair any damage to your teeth. The filling will be performed using a technique called Filling.

LA injection – your professional will administer a local anesthetic to numb your teeth. LA will be injected into your mouth.

SSC – your professional will place a crown to cover any damage to your teeth. The crown will be placed using a technique called SSC.

Extractions – your professional will remove (Filling) any tooth that requires extraction. The extraction will be performed using a technique called Extraction.

Pulpotomy – your professional will perform a pulpotomy to treat any damage to the tooth. The pulpotomy will be performed using a technique called Pulpotomy.